I am an active admin of a high rep rank, and a member of both the IRC and Mumble servers. They may be able to give you more info about, or help with any issues you run into. -- - DRAXER. My 2 cents: Yes, you have to be patient and have an understanding of what they are going to say when you ask them. I.E. I can't provide speed or anything of that nature, but I can say I can get you a 1st edition of a book that was published in the mid 1980's. Edit: You can contact me on IRC and Mumble at: freenode.net mumble.freenode.net. Message me there if you need to. -- -LitekePixie. Hello, @DRAXER here. Fax server That's all I can say about that, unless you specifically ask about it. I don't know what they can do about it. -- - SWAPAIUEF.0030601.16PM. I would just get an official copy of "PoD" and learn the rules before you go through the hassle of trying to "unofficially" own some dead authors work. If you want a more "unofficial" collection, the first few numbers of WSG's return are highly sought after. -- - SWAPAIUEF. 0060601.16PM. Http://www.jfsr.org/index.php?forums/showthread.php?19424. Seismologists were eager to study the cause of a large gas explosion in Belize City Friday night that took out two buildings and injured at least eight people. But they are not seeing any new seismic activity in the area. As a result, it is unlikely that the quake sequence just east of Belize City will result in further damaging quakes or other types of temblors, according to seismologists. It is also unlikely that there will be a major underwater quake that could result in a tsunami. The explosion occurred Friday evening about 5 miles east of the new Belmopan airport. There was a 5.1 magnitude earthquake at about 7:25 pm, which some people felt. "Tremors were felt over about a 10-kilometer radius, but no shaking is expected," said seismologist Sheldon Silver. "Our concern right now is the damage to buildings and people," Silver added. The explosion occurred at the site of an old cement plant, located east of the new Belmopan airport. It is believed to have been caused by a natural gas leak, or perhaps an underground fire. In Belize City, four small people can be seen resting on the sidewalk, near where the explosion occurred, and others wade into the dirt. Some of them run out of the debris trail when they hear loud explosions, and others walk out, dazed. One of them is an obvious victim of the blast.
