youtube i m just making a simple video but i didnt know that it will be a big hit how to start making youtube videos here is the video i m not the one who started the you tube video, but i guess that the movie looks pretty good and you can see that you can make videos with very good quality but in my country people dont know that to make youtube video you need an expensive camera but most of the youth people just try to use a mobile phone and try to edit the video and try to upload to the youtube tell me the best camera you have ever used please and what software you have used and whats your opinion on the video All of the good cameras should have a good zoom lens. I prefer to use the Canon 18-200mm lens. The software I use is Adobe Premiere Elements 11 and I usually use Adobe Photoshop too. I usually download the video from my camera directly to Adobe Premiere Elements and then I usually use the add-on called 'Video Effects' in Adobe Premiere Elements to edit the video, then I export it to Adobe Photoshop then I export the video to Facebook or Youtube. Video Editing is fun but it also takes a lot of time to edit the video. So you can save your time by adding some simple effects to the video. We can make videos from our phone as well. You can get a video editing app like Luma or Bonsai and then record your video from your phone. But most of the time the videos that are recorded are not that good, because you cannot adjust the brightness and the contrast of the video as well as the quality. But if you are a good videographer, you can make the videos using a camera. I have some experience with video editing software. I use Adobe Premiere Elements and have used Final Cut Pro also. I'm the lucky one who has the camera for professional video use. I bought a good camera (Sony HDR-PJ260), I can use the software I want and the result is good quality. I believe that good video editing is hard work but if you do it, the result is good. The more you practice the better you'll be. My opinion, good quality video camera is not that expensive. But I think the quality of the video is more important than the price. You need to spend more money for the quality of the
