In the file "FIFA 12 PC Universal Gamepads Configuration.txt" there is a solution to configure the Gamepads of the game in Spanish. Download the game "FIFA 12" and run on a portable device. The Gamepads are English but you can change the options to be Spanish or Portuguese. (I can not confirm that the gamepads are in Spanish, but I do not have to remove the spanish files to have the game play correctly) If I understand it right the file "FIFA 12 PC Universal Gamepads Configuration.txt" is loaded by the game from the folder "program files\EA SPORTS\FIFA 12" where the configuration settings are. If the game does not load, you must reinstall the game in the folder above. I have an error with the file FIFA 12 PC Universal Gamepads Configuration.txt: 1.Run FIFA 12 PC Universal Gamepads Configuration.txt 2.Open the message "FIFA 12 PC Universal Gamepads Configuration.txt" is created: "Warning!! Saving changes may crash the game,close and try to restart the game to see the changes." After I close the program and start the game again, I get the message: "No registered device found to use this file. In addition, all possible gamepads have been disabled. Therefore, this file will be ignored." It is possible to solve the problem by changing the sound and controls to Spanish or Portuguese, then the game starts without problem, but I prefer to solve the problem with "Change the location of the file ". Now I'm going to clean the registry, and I want to know if this is necessary to fix the problem or if the steps below will do the job. Run a batch file, which is indicated below, and remove all of the registry keys and values from the registry by this file. "

HKEY_LOCAL_MACHINE\SOFTWARE\EA SPORTS\FIFA 12\PC\CC\Gamepads* " You can use the registry editor, but is not recommended since the registry changes made with this file can cause problems with the game. If you run the game "FIFA 12 PC Universal Gamepads Configuration.txt" can not access the configuration of the gamepads. FIFA
