League Baseball has issued its ruling on the reported ball-throwing elbow injury that's sidelining Royals shortstop Alcides Escobar:
"Baseball operations determined that the diagnosis and treatment of the injury sustained by Mr.
Escobar, while on the field, did not rise to the level of a violation." Escobar was called up earlier

Escobar, 23, has appeared in 36 of the Royals' 136 games this year, compiling a .269/.352/.340 slash line with two homers, nine doubles, and 14 RBI. The team has won 25 of his 39 starts.
