Any idea? Thanks! A: You're confusing yourself by running multiple compilers at once - in this case VST3 plugins are DLLs. Unless you have two versions of the same VST plugin (and therefore two instances of the same DLL) there is no way for them to interact. However there are a number of approaches you can take: Find the author of the VST. Email them and ask them to use a VST without modules. You can then share the source with them. Use a third party module loader (such as the FMod project) and have it load the modules, rather than you. Q: Trouble using sed to extract lines in a file I have a text file in this format: (from_user = matt, to_user = george, message = This is a message, date = 02-12-2018) I want to extract "from_user" and "to_user" and "message" and "date" from the above text file. How can I do this using sed? I have tried this code so far but its not working: sed -r '/(from_user = [^,]+, to_user = [^,]+, message = [^,]+, date = [^,]+)/p' And here is my output: sed -r '/(from_user = matt, to_user = george, message = This is a message, date = 02-12-2018)/p' You can use a sed substitution to get your desired result. sed -n '/from_user =,*/to_user =,*/message =,*/date =,*/{N;d;}' input_file Example: $ cat file1 (from_user = paul, to_user = bob, (from_user = john, to_user = bill, to_user = ge
