We have received your wonderful letter. Thank you for giving us so much time and attention! We have read all the letters, all the answers to all the questions, and we will be happy to inform you that they are all published in forthcoming books and on the site. The Way of the Wolf came as a surprise to us and, of course, we are pleased that you were very satisfied with the work done. We really tried hard. Thanks again for your attention!

What were they working on? First of all, we worked on the credibility of each character. With each hero we communicated personally, talked with him. Everything down to the smallest detail. We had several hundred names, we talked to them, wrote down their stories. In all seriousness. Each of the characters had their own character, their behavior. We recorded all the details, all the moments regarding the image of the game. We took off all the costumes, all the "chips". We recorded every sound and voice, every movement and gesture, and set up cameras. In addition, we have collected all the interesting and "talking" statements of the main characters, and also came up with our own jokes, well-aimed nicknames, etc. for each character. In general, before you is our first sketch diary. It should be noted right away that not every character will accept such a text. We don't count on t
