It's just a simple way of checking whether the string has any words after the word STOP. If there is no word after the word STOP then I want to turn it in to FALSE. Here is my regex: stop\b(?:\w*\bSTOP\b) I'm using this code to find any words that contain STOP: $string = 'Link1 Link2 Link3 STOP' $regex = '.*?'; if (preg_match($regex, $string, $matches)) { echo $matches[1]. "; } But I cannot get the code to work on a string that does not contain the word STOP. So when running the code like this: $string = 'Link1 Link2 Link

Speaking Clock Deluxe is a desktop clock application that can announce time in multiple languages, with several extra features provided as a bonus. Download Speaking Clock Deluxe from Softonic: My System Speaks The Time I've been a user of Clock Maker, which is a program that plays up your speakers to remind you to do various things. I personally used it when I went to the gym or when I did other similar activities. However, after years of neglect, I decided to go back and see if I could download the app again. The download is available on the Windows Phone Store and has good ratings. Display The Time Using this program, you will need to first download it from the Microsoft Store. The display of the app is very simple. It only needs you to enter the time and then press a button to automatically announce the time. This is pretty simple and easy to use. A Customized Interface The Microsoft Clock Builder, as it is called, has a highly customizable interface, which makes it possible to use it. What makes the app stand out is its interface, which makes the interface look more modern. It is what makes it possible to get a modern look with your apps. For example, the Clock Builder now has a clock design, which is made from modern materials like wood and metal. Languages Available The interface has a little lag in announcing the time. It is possible to change your time of day to any time available. This makes it easier for people to use the app and adjust their schedule. This feature is good because many people have trouble getting to work on time, especially if they are in different time zones. The app is good for people who are often on the go or who have to be at the office at a certain time. You can also change the time in the middle of the night. This is good because it makes it possible to wake up at a certain time. A Deep Level of Customization The app allows you to have more control over how you announce the time. You can choose to use a female voice or male voice. In addition to using different voices, you can also choose the duration for which the voice is heard. You can even select the region that you live in. This is important if you are traveling and want to keep track of how much time you have left in your destination. Features Many people have trouble adjusting the time, but with this app, you can adjust the

Quicken is one of the most popular personal finance software available today, and Microsoft Windows provides a basic version that you can try out for free. Now, with Quicken 'for Windows 7', you get a professional look, powerful tools and exceptional features including a new simplified interface, user-friendly alerts and the ability to sync data across the network. A full-featured version of Quicken for Windows 7 also lets you make automated payments. You can also create budget categories that help you track your spending and save money. Speaking Clock Deluxe is a nice desktop clock that comes with a number of features, including an advanced alarm utility and a new alarm sound that helps the app distinguish between alarms and missed calls. Besides announcing time, Speaking Clock Deluxe also comes with other useful tools, including a calculator, a stopwatch and a calendar. Still, the interface makes this small app easy to use, but we admit that a modern look would be much better. The application comes with multiple skins included in the package, but none of them looks so appealing as you may expect. Unfortunately, there's no official way to configure the MS agent and the text-to-speech support in Speaking Clock Deluxe, so users will have to spend some time tinkering with the application if they want to enable an animated character that speaks the time at any user-defined interval. Additionally, Speaking Clock Deluxe boasts an advanced alarm utility that lets you schedule alarms with a number of actions to be performed at a user-defined time, including launching a program or playing a sound. In order to synchronize time and adjust time and date automatically using online servers, you need to buy Speaking Clock Deluxe for Windows 7. Unlike other similar apps, Quicken 'for Windows 7' gives you the chance to download the latest update and synchronize the application with your online account even without a subscription. Still, the ace up its sleeve is the dedicated feature to announce time that supports not only English, but also Russian and other languages, with both female and male voices included. When it comes to performance, Speaking Clock Deluxe is pretty lightweight and friendly with computer resources. Bottom line Speaking Clock Deluxe remains friendly with computer resources, and that's pretty impressive since it's supposed to run all the time. In a Nutshell Announce time and date in multiple languages Create a number of helpful tools Use an animated character to announce time The fine print Configuration settings not available Synchronize time automatically using online servers Performance Advertisements Reviewer: Tony T, MS Windows 7 Reviewed on 2014-12-18 5 Best Clock App Overall, Speaking Clock Deluxe is a pretty handy desktop clock that comes
