It is developed by the French company Aldeno, based in France and distributed by the United States company Corel Corporation. The initial version was released in 2004. Paint.net was developed under Microsoft Windows and Mac OS X operating systems, and is available for all major computer operating systems. The original goal of Paint.net was to be a photo editing application for web designers and photographers, providing a simple solution for creating web pages, such as web graphics, animations, or static images. However, the popularity and adoption of Paint.net is much broader than originally planned, and it is now being used by artists, designers and web developers worldwide for a wide range of projects and purposes, including (but not limited to) web design, graphics, poster and animation projects. What's New In LUMINA Networking?

CorelLuminaNetworkIcons-C is one of the nine icon collections of the CorelLuminaNetworkIcons-S package of icon sets. The package contains a set of icons to represent concepts from the technical area. The icon set contains a wide range of icons for network technologies and site management. More than 60 icons and detailed explanations of the different icons, accompanied by fonts. Our page contains the original set of icons, and also a grouped file of copies in other file formats, in case you need to use only one of the file types supported. The biggest advantage of using the original files from the set is the ease of use for you and your users. Most of the icons are designed with extreme clarity to make them easier to understand, even for those with no design experience. The icons are grouped by function, not by size or complexity, and contain 16x16, 32x32, 48x48 and 64x64 pixels in the original files. To make installation easier, all of the files from the pack are divided into smaller groups. There are four types of files: 1).png versions, 2).jpg versions, 3).icns versions, and 4).eps versions. If you want to work with only one file type, you can choose one of these types. All the files are in the Corel's original icon format, which means that you can use them with any application that can use this format. By the way, our page contains a set of links to links of other CorelLuminaNetworkIcons-S page where you can find more networks about other basic icon sets. For example, you can find there the most used network icons sets, as well as a set of network functions. You can try to use the icons from the link by simply dragging and dropping them in your layout or template. This will create a layer of these icons in your layout or template. There is a feature for arranging icons in layers, which you can use to create the layers in your layout or template.
