Enhancing social responsibility of health care professionals: A systematic review of literature. Society expects health professionals to be responsible for certain ethical standards. The aim of this study was to summarize the existing evidence on how to foster professional social responsibility in health care. We conducted a systematic review of the literature on interventions to enhance social responsibility of health professionals, focusing on feasibility, sustainability and effectiveness. The search comprised English and German databases

(including Medline, Cochrane, PsychINFO and Social Science Citation Index) from 1988 until January 2012. The keywords "social responsibility," "social responsibility of health professionals," "social responsibility of health care professionals" and "social responsibility of medical professionals" were used. The review included 37 publications, and most studies focused on the concept of 'social responsibility of health care professionals' or 'social responsibility of medical professionals.' Social responsibility was conceptualized as an outcome of training interventions, which usually targeted clinical or professional responsibilities. An increasing amount of evidence has shown that the implementation of various training strategies successfully contributed to the enhancement of professional social responsibility in the short term. The effect of these interventions on social responsibility was however inconsistent over time. There are insufficient studies on 1d6a3396d6

Stephen Jones (footballer)

Stephen Jones (born 14 September 1984 in Nottingham, England) is an English former professional footballer. He is the son of former Notts County player Dave Jones. Jones played as a defender for Notts County and Carlisle United before joining Port Vale as a professional on a youth contract in August 2002. His first team debut came on 28 January 2004, in a 3–0 defeat by Luton Town at Vale Park. He made three more appearances in the 2002–03 and 2003–04 seasons. Following an injury lay-off he was released in June 2004. He subsequently signed with non-league side Barrow, before joining Southport in August 2005. He also represented the Manchester United under-21 team and was once voted by fans as Notts County's greatest ever player. He signed with Leek Town in January 2008, before returning to Carlisle on 9 January 2008. He retired from professional football in June 2008.

Playing career

Notts County Jones began his career at Notts County, who had the first of five spells as his team. He began as a trainee in the summer of 1999, and became a regular in the reserves, he made his first team debut on 28 January 2004 in a 3–0 defeat by Luton Town at Vale Park. He kept his first team place in the 2003–04 season, in which they reached the Fourth Round of the FA Cup, losing to Huddersfield Town. He was transferred from the club, along with teammates Jonny Parr, Rob Hulse and Andy Jones, in June 2004, for £50,000. He was also part of the team that won the FA Youth Cup in 2000.

Port Vale He was signed by John Rudge's Port Vale in August 2002. He made his debut in a 2–1 defeat at Macclesfield Town on 28 January 2004. He made seven appearances in 2003–04, but suffered an injury which kept him out for the rest of the season. He featured 17 times in the 2004–05 season, as the team were relegated from the Football League. He left the club in June 2005, having made 30 appearances in total.

Barrow He joined non-league Barrow in August 2005. He later returned to Carlisle United on 9 January 2008.

International career Jones was called up to the
