I use a field named "main_template". For displaying purpose I need to retrieve the name of this field. This field doesn't have a name "main_template". I don't want to retrieve the name of the table. I am trying to retrieve the name using this code: SELECT main_template FROM tbl_main_template But it returns a 1 record and not the field name. I need only the field name. A: You can simply use the column name. Select main_template From tbl_main_template Q: Why does this array.indexOf work strangely? console.log(["hello", "world".indexOf("world")]); // prints "0" But this doesn't print anything. Why does that work? console.log(["hello", "world".indexOf("world")]); // prints undefined A: indexOf calls toString on the first argument. A string is iterable for the purpose of that property, so both ["hello", "world"].indexOf("world") and ["hello", "world".indexOf("world")].toString() print out "hello, world". Here's the relevant part of the specification (emphasis added): 4.3.22 String.prototype.to
