Q: Fatal error: Cannot redeclare function php_dom_tree Today my server started giving me this error: PHP Fatal error: Cannot redeclare dom_tree() (previously declared in /var/www/localhost/users/kevin/www/php_dom.php:48) in /var/www/localhost/users/kevin/www/php_dom.php on line 46 My php_dom_tree is included at the top of every page on the server, and every page works fine except this one. I have no idea what's going on. A: I have no idea what's going on. It's the same as what happened to me. I had a file that was declaring the same function at the top and this was being used to include another file which had a require of a file that declared the same function again at the top. Reorder your code or find the duplicate file and move it to the bottom of the file you are including (which is why this isn't really an answer). Cheers, Dror Golan Web Design MagQ: How to add routing in the existing Rails app using Rails.application.routes.routes I have one existing application using Rails (version 2.3.14) and I am trying to add routing in it. I added a route to the routes file: Rails.application.routes.draw do resources :sessions, :only => [:new, :create, :destroy] root :to => "sessions#new" end but I am getting an error in routes.rb: No route matches [GET] "/routes.rb" A: It's Rails.application.routes, not Rails.application.routes.routes. I think you have an uncaught exception from the Rails routes logic. Are you using the Rails generator? Do you have a new_session_path somewhere in your templates? Do you have a _form.html.erb somewhere? 1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a process for manufacturing resin molded products. More specifically, the present invention relates to a process for obtaining a resin molded product with a special surface. 2. Description of the Related Art Although a resin molded product, for example, a resin molded article such as a resin molded automobile body, must be formed into a finished article having a specific surface by a high-precision process, such as a molding process, it is difficult to finish a resin molded article having a special surface using a high-precision process, such as a molding process. That is, a resin molded article having a fine surface structure tends to have roughness, shrinkage strain, and the like. As a result, various problems are generated. For example, the surface of a molded article is generally finished by subjecting a resin molded article to buffing in which the surface of
