Registers macros and names with appropriate keyboard mappings in Windows. KeyMapper is not an MFC control, nor a standard Windows dialog control. The KeyMapper control and its help menu option allow users to change the behavior of the underlying keyboard. The following features are provided: - Microsoft Office programs: Command keys, ALT keys, and standard controls have been mapped to the specified mappings. - Other programs: The following lists are provided: - Windows startup programs, - Windows Explorer favorites, - Windows Explorer group shortcuts, - Windows Explorer display icons, - Windows Explorer context menus, - Windows Explorer dialogs and dialog boxes, - Windows Explorer mnemonic keys, - Windows Explorer shortcuts, - Windows Explorer toolbars. - More lists can be provided. - The keymapper is a stand alone control and is not associated with the Windows taskbar. KeyMapper can be used from a Microsoft Windows desktop, or from a Microsoft Office Excel spreadsheet. Microsoft Word, Excel, and PowerPoint operate with KeyMapper when Keyboard Shortcuts are used to set mappings for common functions (including the Shift key). If a mapping is disabled, the keys are only released when clicking on the KeyMapper control. For information about how to configure and use KeyMapper, see the KeyMapper control help on the Microsoft website. NOTE: Each "Shift,Alt,Control" mapping must have a unique letter. If a list of mappings is provided, all the mappings within the list must have unique letters. Features: - Startup: Users can add their programs to startup as well as other settings. - Mappings: Users can register mappings for the following items in the registry. - Favorites: Users can add items to the favorites list. - Explorer items: Users can add their Explorer items to the favorites list. - Explorer favorites: Users can add favorite Explorer items. - Explorer icons: Users can add Explorer icons. - Explorer menu: Users can add the Explorer menu. - Explorer mnemonic keys: Users can add mnemonic keys to the Explorer menu. - Explorer shortcuts: Users can add shortcuts to the Explorer menu. - Explorer toolbars: Users can add toolbars to the Explorer context menu. - Microsoft Office Program: Users can choose what program to use for command key, alt key, and control key m 1a22cd4221

The Miami Dolphins hired a new coach yesterday. He's going to be more like Jim Harbaugh than Rex Ryan. Ryan is a family man. With a wife and three kids, he's set to take a huge pay cut. He's not going to coach in 2017. Jim Harbaugh, who made $6 million in 2016, is going to make only $4 million next year. He's going to coach in 2017, but he won't be paid. Harbaugh is in contract negotiations. He could make another $8 million or more for the Niners in 2017. He's offered to leave the Niners, but with the way he's done in San Francisco, and all the attention the Niners are going to receive in 2017, Harbaugh might be hard to get out of a contract. You don't find a lot of coaches with Harbaugh's resume and talent. There are a few other guys like him in the NFL, guys who have been to multiple Super Bowls, guys who are in the Hall of Fame. He's got the ability to deliver more for less. If you pay the right guy, you get the right results. Maybe the Dolphins want that kind of talent. They've never had anything close to it on the coaching staff. They're a $18 million per year team. The salary cap is $167 million. It's set to rise to $177 million this year. The Dolphins are going to be expensive. They're going to be a good team. They're going to have plenty of cap room and plenty of
