Learn more about US Zip Code, City and State Search Database Software Wipeout is an addictive action/strategy game for the Windows platform that is reminiscent of an earlier Flash game that was released by the studio that is best known for the "Call of Duty" franchise. You'll start off in the wake of a meteor impact, and your objective is to plant the seed of mankind in different planets in space. Similar games include the classic "The Longest Journey" by the Swedish studio Press Play, which was released in 2008. The game's development team is comprised of veterans of games such as "System Shock 2" and the very popular "Call of Duty" series. Gameplay in "Wipeout" is simple. Although you can choose between any of the three planets on display at the beginning of the game, you'll always have one eye on the timer. Once the timer expires, you have 30 seconds to collect all the required energy and break away from the planet's surface. You have to fly in a triangular pattern to save yourself from the approaching "Fastest Killin'" creatures, also called "Raptors". "Wipeout" can be a bit overwhelming at first. You have only one life, and the difficulty might increase to the point of frustration if you are not careful. However, you won't have to play through the entire game if you don't like it, since you can save your game anywhere and pick up where you left off. The game is shown in a 3D interface. It makes use of pure 3D effects, as well as features such as the "Wipeout" soundtrack and space animations that are brought to life by the game's presentation. A major advantage of Wipeout is the

Dear Parents, I hope the summer has been good to you. We have a full slate of activities planned for the kids this year and it looks like we have an exciting summer ahead. I already have a pair of hiker's toboggans in my office that have been earmarked for a few of the children, and there are a couple of campsites that will be the destination of some of the children. I am pleased to tell you that the fall transition period for kindergarten and first grade will be a bit later than usual, starting next week, the fall half-term week, and it will end in time for the holiday break. This will allow the children to prepare for a smoother start of the second semester next year. Summer Reading For those of you who would like to encourage your children to read for pleasure, the reading list is now posted for the entire school. The list can be found at: General FizzBuzz recommendation? I'm in the process of creating a FizzBuzz code review. To start, here's what I've got: private static void do_review_and_submit(int[] int_array) { print
