(CentOS) through a hypervisor such as VirtualBox? Essentially, I want to install software for Ubuntu users, but other distros are all over the place, so I was wondering if I can put them all into a package and let the user get it through my server, without me needing to have it installed within their guest. I am aware that it would have to be in a.deb format, and that it may be slow. I know that there are more ways to do what I want to do than this, but this is just something I thought of while I
