We discuss how they got started and what they have done in the last few years, including the RenderMonkey Cloud service. I'm Chris Priestman and this is the award-winning podcast for digital imaging education. When designing a product, it's very tempting to go full bore and devote all your resources to designing a world-beating solution. But what if you don't have to be the best? What if you can be the best that you can be? So I talk to people who have designs which are arguably just as good and are asking: can I bring my product to market and make my living off it? Who are these people? You'll find they're all over the design landscape. But maybe the question you want answered most is: 'Can I build a product that's so powerful it makes everyone else look bad?' That is, of course, what's really going to get you the attention of the market. This episode is about the secrets of small and mid-sized businesses. Why do they exist? How do they produce
