UNIT- III. Feedforward networks: introduction, single layer perceptron architecture, algorithm. Application procedure, perception algorithm for several . Two methods are used to create a perceptron model in OpenCV: the supervised learning method and the backpropagation method. In order to select a method, it is necessary to determine the type of network, as well as select a training method and a backpropagation algorithm. The following figure shows the feed-forward network (Figure 8.5) in equilibrium. In this state, the network is not capable of making decisions, so all inputs to the network are blocked. Rice. 8.5.
