The plugin is intended to save time by allowing you to use the macro browser in the work environment. Instead of having to navigate to the settings page, type in the search terms and click on each category, you simply set the filtering parameters in the macro browser. The plugin also saves time when you switch to your work environment. Important Information: Confluence saves the macro parameters as a session variable which it refers to as `$P{confluence.confluence_tables_filter_parameters}`. You must use the work environment to make changes to the filtering parameters (they cannot be edited in the macro browser). Changes made to the filtering parameters do not persist from the browser session to a new session and are deleted when your browser session is destroyed. The plugin is located in the Confluence Plugins directory. Introduction When adding filter to tables, you do not need to use the macro browser to set your filter criteria.
