Zduriencik, the former Milwaukee Brewers' general manager, was fired late last night, after a year of trying to turn the Mariners into the kind of team the Angels and Yankees are supposed to be. In the end, it's looking like Zduriencik just didn't have enough. There was a time, not too long ago, when the Mariners were the two-time defending AL West champions. In fact, they were the winningest team in baseball that year. And then, in 2002, Zduriencik led the Mariners to a World Series. And it was good. That year, the Mariners also had the highest payroll in baseball. That was then, and this is now, as Zduriencik must now explain to the new owner, Ken Williams. And that, apparently, is not good enough. At 10:42 last night, Zduriencik was released from his duties. It was his idea, not Williams'. Zdurienci
