At the time they had just played the notorious dubbed-out backing track at the end of 'Dark Star'. The jams from their respective versions have been dubbed out a second time and are available as a 7" vinyl single. The production was overseen by Don

Wilcock, Jerry Garcia's brother-in-law and first cousin to Page, who had just recorded his eponymous debut album. Hear the result today: News I can tell you a story that happened to me in the south of Spain and it's such a short story. I was in the car, I wasn't lost, the car had a GPS on it. But anyway, a GPS with the touch feature and everything on it and I start driving down the highway and the touch screen broke and I was like "oh shit!" So I'm like "I'm trying to remember how to use the touch screen!" But there was no answer to that so I was driving down the highway with my hands off the steering wheel because I couldn't reach it. I was a really bad driver, I mean really bad. I was nervous because there was no answer and I was in rush and I was trying to get to an appointment which I finally did, but it was getting late and I was like "I have to get there now and I'm on the highway and I don't know how to drive!" I'm totally by myself in this car in the
