The game will also feature improved fitness training which mirrors the routines of elite footballers, delivering a realistic training environment that challenges players to enhance their skills and strength. In addition to visual and gameplay features, the game will benefit from FIFA 20's new in-game footage replacement system, giving players real-life footage of the stars of the game. The improvements to the game's performance in addition to the new features and technology make FIFA 22 the most technically sophisticated, powerful and authentic Fifa game ever made. "As the global football game that has the biggest active player-base, FIFA continues to forge the path in the world of sports gaming," said Ian Livingstone, Producer of FIFA. "Our new engine is at the heart of FIFA 22, and we're developing and creating the most immersive, connected and authentic FIFA experience to date." "The next generation of gameplay capture allows for more reaction and anticipation in player models, and deep contextual information from players' actions - all fed into our AI algorithms to provide the richest, most authentic and nuanced gameplay experience yet," said Oliver Tickell, Executive Producer on FIFA. "We've made a host of further enhancements to the engine to deliver new gameplay opportunities such as enhanced cover-based defence and attacking, agent-controlled freelancers and gameplay more responsive to the player's style of play and ability to adapt to changing moments in the match," added Tickell. "These innovations enable more intelligent tactics, tactical options for managers to strategise for success, and a more reactive opponent." "We're using 'real world' data from athletes to enhance and perfect the match engine and give players even more accurate representation of the high-intensity game," said Livingstone. "We're learning from feedback from the community and turning this into the richest and most authentic match experiences in FIFA history." FIFA 22 launches on the PlayStation 4, Xbox One, PC, Mac, Nintendo Switch and Google Stadia on August 2. On smartphones and tablets, the game launches on Android and iOS for free to download on August 1. A physical edition will launch on all platforms from September 2018. FIFA video games are created by EA Canada, one of the world’s most respected sports simulation developers. FIFA debuted in September 1992 and has since become one of the most successful sports video game series of all time. Today FIFA is among the largest sports video game series of all time with sales in excess of 100 million units. This game will not be included in the EA SPORTS FIFA 20 standard edition. Each week, we analyze the greatest non-unanimous All-Star teams of all-time. This week we look at the best and worst games of the 2016 Western Conference All-Stars. (Note: The All-Star Game will be held July 28 at Amway Center in Orlando. The starters are locked in, and the reserves are revealed on Thursday.) Most compelling facts The fourth quarter: James Harden versus the Pacers is being the most popular topic in sports media since the Crimson Tide beat the undefeated FSU Seminoles, and that’s saying something. Sure, the best storyline of the entire season is Denver’s loss to Golden State, but in the longer term it’s not yet clear how or where the Nuggets can find a remedy for their disappointing season. Harden is averaging 40.4 points, 10.3 rebounds and 8.3 assists per game. But with him off, the Rockets have missed most of the season. No less than four All-Stars failed to have single games. Particularly desperate for a turnaround is the Warriors, who are off to a disappointing start, despite their historic roster. Stephen Curry has missed the last seven games. Kevin Durant missed the second half of the season with a knee injury. Klay Thompson missed most of last year after having surgery on his torn ACL. Mostly, it’s about the Pacers. Indiana is the Eastern Conference’s top seed. The Pacers, however, have lost three out of the last four games. No one is making any progress in the Eastern Conference. Giannis Antetokounmpo — who has improved his play despite not having James Harden — could theoretically be the No. 1 overall pick in the NBA draft, but he's not leading the Bucks to any of the regular-season milestones. For the Hawks, a playoff spot — and even a home-court advantage in the first round — may rest on the health of Al Horford. While he's been the team
