Faceware RCM Full Patch....The present invention relates to a tool for gripping an object such as a rod of any kind and more particularly a sporting implement, to a tool for fastening a handle and a grip, of said sporting implement. Such a tool is already known to the art and is for instance described in the patent U.S. Pat. No. 2,704,435. It is pointed out that the fastening tool, or the tool for fastening a handle and a grip of a stick, of any kind, including a golf club, a bat, a tennis racket, a racquetball, a baseball bat, a baseball, a baseball, a hockey stick, and even a riding stick, is in the state of the art as a sleeve having a first end, a second end and an intermediate region extending between said first end and said second end. The intermediate region includes an engagement face perpendicular to the longitudinal extension of said intermediate region, said engagement face being intended to cooperate with the object to be gripped to fasten said tool to said object. The first end of said sleeve is adapted to be fixed, for example by welding, to the handle of a sporting implement, e.g. a golf club, a tennis racket, a bat, etc. Said first end of said sleeve is also provided with several through bores through which a fastening screw is led through the sleeve so as to secure the sleeve to the handle of the sporting implement. The second end of the sleeve is adapted to cooperate with the grip of the sporting
