Mathematica 8.0.4 Help! I have a problem with Mathematica 8.0.4. This equation doesn't work:  $a = y[1]; c = \text{Simplify}[a]; c - \text{Sin}[c]$  Why? Sorry to make a silly question, but I have been trying to understand why this expression didn't work for hours. Thank you!

A: That's because you are asking Mathematica to handle inbuilt trigonometric functions as differential equations and to solve them with numerical methods.

I don't know how good they are. (Or if there is another way to solve this and the problem may be in the actual equation itself.) In any case, this is another place where Mathematica can be helpful even when you give it symbolic input: it will recognize the inbuilt functions as functions and might be able to solve them in another way. Here is a bit of code that works:

a = y[1]; c = Solve[x*a - a*x == 0, x][[1, 1]]; c - Sin[c] y[t_] := Cos[t] + Sin[t] a = y[0] f[t_] := a*t - t*a g[t_] := f[t]*f[t] h[t_] := g[t] sol1 =
NDSolveValue[{g'[t] == h[t], g[0] == 0}, g, {t, 0, 1}]

---

Plot3D[g[t] /. sol1, {t, 0, 1}] The invention relates to a sliding door assembly for motor vehicles, and especially to a sliding door assembly for pickup trucks, comprising a door leaf, an inner side guide and an outer side guide in the region of a U-shaped support. Sliding door assemblies of this kind are known, see, for example, European Patent Disclosure EP 0 581 889 B1, d0c515b9f4
