and that's it, just download the file, and follow these instructions: Quantum liquid and solid dynamics in magnetic nanoparticles. Quantum dynamics in magnetic nanoparticles constitutes a new and fascinating field of research, because the magnetic fluctuations can be studied in a well-defined condensed state at low temperatures. Beside the inherent curiosity of the phenomenon, the development of a new tool in solid-state physics with applications to nanomechanics and nanoelectronics will result. The main objective of this work is to demonstrate that quantum effects can be observed in metallic nanoparticles with spin sizes above 10 per lattice constant. A nanoparticle composed by 65 unit cells of gold is studied by means of density-functional theory with embedded dynamical spin exchange and random-phase approximation corrections. The effect of a strong magnetic field on the quantum fluctuations of this system is also analyzed.Q: How do I tell if text is centered on a html page? Is there an easy way to tell if the text is centered on a webpage? How? A: If you know the width of your browser window, then you can make use of padding-left and padding-right CSS properties. You could e.g. use the following on a page: Your Title Here Additional Content If the container is already set to display: table then you'll have to make use of the CSS property border-collapse. A: If the text is, you can also test to see if the text position is 'floating' (using 'text-align: center' for example): if($('#mytext').css('text-align') === "center"){ alert("text is center"); }else{ alert("text is NOT centered"); } You will need to do any css to make the text centered, because 'text-align: center' will not center text if it's already floated to the left or right. (not tested) A: This should work for most : var elements = document.getElementsByTagName("div"); for
