Roblox is an online game platform and game creation system developed by Roblox Corporation that allows users to program games and play games created by other users. Created by David Baszucki and Erik Cassel in 2004 and released in 2006, the platform hosts user-created games of multiple genres coded in the programming language Lua. For most of Roblox's history, it was relatively small, both as a platform and a company. Roblox began to grow rapidly in the second half of the 2010s, and this growth has been accelerated by the COVID-19 pandemic. Roblox is free to play, with in-game purchases available through a virtual currency called Robux. As of August 2020, Roblox had over 164 million monthly active users, including more than half of all American children under 16. Although Roblox has received generally positive reviews from critics, it has faced criticism for its moderation, microtransactions, and exploitative practices directed toward children. And while the working boatbuilding classes gave all the attention to Jacoby's incredible mast, Sail Clipper magazine, publisher of The Clipper Race, gave equal time to another boatbuilder. The article, entitled "Lessons Learned," highlighted the boatbuilding class judged by Mike Vandborg and Samantha Taylor. Jacoby was a finalist in both the shapes category and the mast category. His mast, which he first built in a night as a senior project at college, received high praise from judges. "It showed excellent design and construction," Taylor said. "The guy really knew his material and how to make it work. The mast was very sturdy and we thought the shape of the club was a very good one." Jacoby's layout of hardware and the seamen's planking was a particular favorite. "That was exactly the right material," Taylor said. Class innovation and improvement was another common theme in both classes. For the shapes category, Taylor credited an increased interest in the boatbuilding classes among the privateer community. "We hear more and more of it," she said, "and that's a good thing." The mast category was directed by two different manufacturers, both offering quick-to-order, premium quality masts. "When it comes to masts, I think we have done really well," Taylor said. "And it all comes back to the designs. You can't design it if you don't go to the classes." This was the second year Sail Clipper magazine has sponsored the class. Taylor said she was impressed with the organization and the professionalism of those who work behind the scenes to make the magazine what it is. "We had good feedback from the class, 804945ef61
